A Shrewd Trick. Davy Crocket's stories were and reared in a German settleemnt upon Purgatory creek, at the base of Purgatory mountains.

Some of our elder readers may remember his famous anecdote about Abram Fulwiler and Peter Snyder, which being rather blasphemous, we shall not repeat. We will, however, tell a good story about the famous pair which has not yet seen the light.

Peter had drank himself out of mill, house and home-there were no homestead laws in Virginia at delicacy of the organization and that time. It was consequently often hard for Snyder to make "a raise" to get a druk, and many usual duties in life. If, continues and ingenious were the expedients the writer, women are to marry to which he resorted for the purpose of filling the inner man with petrated the following ruse:

"Abram, is you dry?" "Yes, Peter, d-d dry." "Well, Abram, I'll get some whisky from Cartmill's grocery." De d-l you will?-where's your money?"-"You let me alone-I'll manage dat."

So he went off, got two bottles, and filled one of them with water. Then he returned, found Abram waiting, and showing the latter the empty bottle, said he "knew how to fill it." He put the bottle of water in one pocket, and the empty one in the other. The twain then started for the grocery.

Arrived there, Peter placed the empty bottle on the counter, where it was soon filled with the ardent, which the old toper stowed ir one of his pockets and was retiring, when the store-keeper bawled out, "Step there, Peter placed out, "Step there, Peter placed out, "Step there, Peter bawled out So he went off, got two bottles,

"Stop there, Peter; pay me for your whisky." "Isn't my credit good for a quart?" indignantly replied the latter. "No," answered the former; "leave the money or the liquor." "Well," rejoined Peter, "take your d—d whisky"—and placing the bottle of water on the counter, he strut. of water on the counter, he strutted out in a harry, with the botatle of whisky in his pocket.

About balf an hour afterwards the store-keeper smelt the bottle; found it filled with water, and rushed out after Snyder; but he found him and Fulwiler both glo. riously drunk on the banks of Purgatory creek .- Norfolk Journal.

SALT-ITS EFFECT ON THE BEOOF:

Dr. Stores, a French physician and surgeon, saw a butcher killing a pig. He observed that he stirred the blood of the animal, and added a handfull of common salt to it while stirring, which immediately made it crimson, and on stirring being discontinued the blood remained fluid. The change of the color of the blood awakened his curiosity. The butcher could give no explanation of the phenomenon except that it kept it from jellying and spoiling. Dr. Stevens seized a vessel, caught more blood, and made several ex-periments by putting salt in it, and found that the blackest blood was instantly changed to a bright ver-milion by salt." "Oh," said he, bere is a fact which may lead to a practical rule,"

He had observed in all cases of yellow fever in the army, that the blood drawn was very black and fluid, and on adding salt it became vermilion and retained its freshness; whereas putridity of the blood is one of the characteristics of the yellow fever. He there fore abandoned the usual mode of treating it, and gave his pa-tients a mixture of various salt, and in very short time reduced the mortality of fever in the West Indies from one in five to one in fitty.

The smaller size of woman's brains may be made up for the greater activity of nervous fibre, and by its proportional size to the body being equal relatively to that of Davy Crocket's stories were chiefly made up from incidents that occurred in his early life in Botetourt county. He was born and reared in a German settlement they have stronger knows viz. that Nature has fitted them to do stronger work. But, according to the London Lancet, when we pass to the domestic and social relations of woman, to the emotional part of her mature, to her inetinets and affections, which are also instinc-tive, and to the powerful influence which these exert on her, and through her on her husband and her children, no physiologist can doubt, we think, that there is a correspondent relation between the whisky. On one occasion he per an insuperable obstacle to their that these duties of life must form on a hot day in August, Peter and his "drouthy crony," Abrain Fulwiler, were lying down in the shade of a locust on the banks of Purgatory creek. Said Peter:

"Abram, is you dry?" "Yes, otherwise otherwise.

I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadaliz as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured (after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of serof-(nia of long standing, which is sapidly improving under its use, and the important in the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an execution of the saped of the same o
